What am I interested in? Who is affected? Is this something I can influence?	What specifically do I want to find out?	How will I come to know this? What changes will I implement in my classroom?	What kinds of things do I need to collect before I begin? How will I collect the data? How often? For how long?	What did I find out? Did it work the way I thought it would? What now?
To get my learners want to use The English language as a natural part of their way of expressing themselves; thoughts, feelings, questions and also as a tool to enrich their world of knowledge. Yes	Find out whether I can get all learners talk more and use an increased oral variety when they speak English.	Increase a variety of subjects and topics and use the label SHARE – which means that each and everyone of the students have something to tell the rest of the class about their interest and we learn words and notions in the chosen area. Abandon a predicable and a one dimensional way of teaching. Implement a student centered teaching to motivate/interest them in useful activities. For example: Share something with us that you like and talk about it afterwards: play music, show a commercial, a website, an	I have to know the subject/topic in advance in order to be able to ask, with useful words, meaningful questions. Arrange meaningful small talks, chats and discussions. Take notes and publish them as soon as possible. Every week. Until the first cycle is fulfilled. Besides I need to read what researchers have found out: Learner-Centered Teaching by Maryellen Weimer.
